

The development of this project is time consuming and expensive. We ask for your help to make it possible now and in the future. Donations are very welcome in any of the following three areas of work.

Creation

New music is necessary to move ahead and continue the development, exploration, and research of the possibilities of both the acoustic and digital instrument. The creation of new music is a very intensive process involving collaboration between composer and performer. The cost of a new piece for solo bass clarinet and electronics easily exceeds €2.000, so we need financial help to make it happen.

In return for your donation, whether you contribute a small share or adopt a whole composition, we will be happy to send you backstage information on the progress of a new piece of music from both the composer and performer, invite you to a rehearsal (if held in your country) and of course to the premiere.

Education

MVG works intensively with composition students on writing contemporary music for bass clarinet. The students get the opportunity to write microscores for bass clarinet with or without electronics. Through email, during workshops, and in individual sessions, these scores are worked out in detail. This enables the students to develop their score and truly explore the instrument. Funds at most professional music education institutes are not sufficient to support this type of intense collaboration between a professional visiting artist and students. Your donation will allow more young composers to learn about writing for bass clarinet, something that is crucial in ensuring that the instrument remains as prominent as it is now in contemporary music.

You will receive footage and documentation of the workshops and sessions with students.

Electronics

Sonic Spaces uses state of the art electronic equipment and implementation of digital processing in music. If you choose to make a donation in this area, it will be used for both equipment and programming of electronic music.

You will receive backstage documentation and footage on the process of implementing and programming electronic music, as well as demonstrations of the equipment as it is used in the productions.
